WEDDING DRESS CODE INSPIRATION

Our wedding dress code inspiration look book is designed to help you find the perfect outfit for each of the three spectacular events in the celebration:

Friday August 30th

The Opening of the Book - Rock the Kasbah Welcome Party

Join Eric & Sahar in the First Chapter of their tale. Hop on a woven carpet and fly beyond the bounds of imagination to discover the legend behind the secret wall of The Kasbah D'if. But remember: dress to kill. You're about to set foot into a castle, after all, so do so as a Prince or Princess making their best entrance into their love story. No one wants to be the poorly-dressed character in the fairytale.

Saturday August 31st

The Fairy Tale Continues

Yesterday, the First Chapter of the Mysterious Book was inked in fine script. Today, we turn the page to the next installment: Ali Baba & The Forty Thieves Desert Camp Party. Join Eric & Sahar in a rare, remote location, The Ali Baba Desert Camp, where the brushstrokes of the desert paint the land in gold. Now is the time to merge into this timeless palette and embody the spirit of the opulent nomads who once traversed these sands. Think flowy, linen, desert oasis chic. Please wear beige, nudes, tans, or golds, and refrain from anything neon.

Sunday September 1st

The Grand Finale

Alas, we have reached our grand finale and the last and Final Chapter: 1001 Nights. The time has come to see our saga to its end. This chapter will take you back to the time of classic romance and ageless elegance, where Black Tie and gowns were the weekend standard, and those short dresses better off left at home. Please refrain from white and white-adjacent dresses. Instead, embrace the lush radiance of Marrakech and opt for colors that will pop under the Moroccan starlight: shimmering metallics, decadent purples, infused orange, kaleidoscopic hues of green, gold, and black.
